DROPOSALS FOR ARTILLERY HORSES,

THE COURTS.

Supreme Court-General Term. court, sitting in general term, was not in last Saturday, but meets to-day at II

Circuit Court-Judge Humphreys. This court, which has adjourned in order that udge Humphreys might sit in the general term o hear the argument in the market-house case, will meet sgain this morning and the appeal nees will be heard.

Equity Court-Judge Wylie. In this court on the 2d instant his Honor issued an order requiring the stall-holders in the Centre Market to pay to the market company all arrearages of rent on or before the 13th instant; otherwise the stalls of such persons as insied to pay would be taken possession of and turned over to the market company. The amount of this indebtedness was upwards of fifty-six thousand dollars, and up to yesterday twenty-five thousand dollars were paid up, leaving about thirty-one thousand dollars of the amount unpaid at the expiration of the ten days.

dollars of the amount unpaid at the expiration of the ten days.

Saturday Messrs. Merrick and Elliott, counsel for the stall-holders, represented that their clients had made every endeavor to pay their arrearages within the prescribed time, but they were unable to do so, and that they asked an extension of the time that they might complete their payments, and thus avoid being thrown out of the possession of their stalls. The counsel asked an order allowing them to pay the remainder in installments. ing them to pay the remainder in installments-say at periods of thirty, sixty and ninety days. By this arrangement counsel thought that the defendants could pay up in full, and thus save

By this arrangement counsel thought that the defendants could pay up in full, and thus save their stands.

Messrs. Birney and Bradley appeared for the Market Company and opposed the application made by the counsel for the defendants.

The former said that many of the stall-holders were irresponsible, and were not disposed to pay anything; that they had taken stalls in the market under the protecting wings of this littigation, and with no intention of paying the stall rent. They mean to hold the stands until compelled to pay rent, when they would leave, and nothing could be made of them.

Mr. Bradley called attention to the fact that only fifteen or seventeen persons had paid any considerable part of their arrearages, and that fifty-eight stall-holders had actually paid nothing. His Honor stated that he would let the order of May 3 remain as it is, and deny the request of counsel for defendants to extend the time of payment. The court, he said, would hold the execution back wherever any of the stall-holders were responsible, and showed a willingness to pay the arrearages within a reasonable time. If any show a disposition to hold back and not pay anything, he would give the company possession of the stalls at once. He would not keep them out of possestion a single day. Before any one should be disarrearages within a reasonable time. If any show a disposition to hold back and not pay anything, he would give the company possession of the stalls at once. He would not keep them out of possession a single day. Before any one should be dispossessed the court would hear the facts in the case, and determine on its merits.
